

SPLENDID MEETING OF NEWARK BUSINESS MEN HELD FRIDAY EVENING

Enjoyable Menu Discussed at Hotel Seiler After Which Members of Association are Treated to Flow of Oratory and Delightful Music.

The meeting of the Business Men's Association Friday evening at the Seiler Hotel was the largest and most enthusiastic that has been held since its organization. When the cards of notification were mailed with the request that those intending to participate reply by phone their acceptance, sixty-five responded. At the meeting last evening nearly one hundred were present and this somewhat embarrassed the committee as dinner arrangements had only been made for those who had signified their intention of being present.

The overflow, however, repaired to the nearby hotels and restaurants to satisfy their hunger, after which they returned to the Seiler to participate in the most excellent program and feast of oratory which followed.

The dinner hour had been announced as 6 o'clock and as the members arrived they were met in the office and directed to the cloak room and parlors on the second floor, where a half hour was spent very pleasantly in a social way. At 6:30 the dining room doors were thrown open and to the strains of a pretty march rendered by the high school orchestra under the direction of Prof. T. H. Neilson, they were seated at the banquet table.

The orchestra, composed of Paul Hawkins, Edward Reber, Lionel Christman, Gray Livingie, Harold Coulman, James Frazier, Ernest Cochran, Carl Sutter, Margery Coulter and T. R. Neilson, occupied the south end of the dining room and discoursed most excellent music during the dinner.

Composed of high school students it was a revelation to most of those present who were not aware that a musical organization of such excellence had even been in contemplation. They received numerous compliments for their work and the instructor and director also came in for a share of the commendation.

Porched above the piano was an eagle with spreading wings holding in its beak a golden sign which read: "Business Men's Club Welcome."

After the guests had been seated the following menu was served:

Cream Tomato Soup
Celery Chow Chow Mixed Pickles
Fried Pickles
Shoe String Potatoes
Dillet of Beef au Jus
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas in Cases
Cream Sausage
Assorted Cake
Wafers
Cafe Noir

After all had portion of the above excellent spread, Frank J. Rogers, president of the association, announced that a test would be made to ascertain how many present could correctly name our present city officers. Cards were passed containing space to name the Mayor, City Solicitor, City Auditor, City Clerk, Director of Public Service, Director of Public Safety, President of the Council, Members of the Council and Health Officer.

C. L. H. Long and Walter J. Bowers were appointed tellers and after gathering up 42 cards found that 12 had been answered correctly, four only made one mistake and four had evidently misunderstood the intentions and had written in their choice of candidate for the next primaries. The test created a great deal of amusement as well as interest and those who were unable to answer the cards will now probably refresh their memory by informing themselves as to who is conducting the city government.

President Rogers next addressed the members, stating that they had gathered for the discussion of topics of friendly interest and that he was much gratified at the splendid turnout of the city's representative business and professional men. He called special attention to the high school orchestra and said Newark should be proud of such an organization, which also simply demonstrated that which could be accomplished by a concerted effort.

He paid a complimentary tribute to the city and its representatives of Prof. Neilson and A. Stasied, the first orator of the evening, who he announced would speak upon the water works problem as seen from a sales of the perplexing question.

Mr. Stasied made quite a lengthy address, reviewing the entire situation from the first conception of a plant in 1864 up until the present time. He told of his connection with the work in an official capacity for the city and also as attorney for the contractors, who for a number of years retarded the work which caused an additional cost to the taxpayers of thousands of dollars.

Mr. Stasied told of the various obstacles with which the city met while building the municipal plant, but was very gingerly in referring to his clients, including Engineer Davis and the American Light & Water company. Although the subject of delays was apparently his principal matter for criticism, it was noticeable that his effort was largely in the nature of a defense of his client, the American Light & Water company, who consumed over two years of time in constructing the city's plant after all injunctions and other obstacles were removed and out of the way. Mr. Stasied advanced no practical solution of the present troubles.

President Rogers in a witty manner next introduced Attorney W. D. Fulton and assigned to him the subject, "Philopollis." Mr. Fulton after referring to several little pleasantries, took up the subject of his address and among other things said that Philopollis comes from the Latin word Philis, to love, and Pollis a city. Hence, you see, that I propose to talk upon the love of our city, and I take it is the mission of the business men of this city to come forward and do everything that will tend to make Newark not only a prosperous and thriving city, but a city of good government, and we can not accomplish this unless every citizen puts forth an effort towards this end. The day has past, and I am glad of it, where people sleep on their rights and are content to live humbly and pay no attention to civic improvement and for the establishment of things that will better the people living within its borders.

A Philadelphia divine created a sensation in Philadelphia by lauding the good forces and features of the city and condemning those who found nothing in the city to commend. So frequent have been the condemnation, even self condemnations, that the new line of thought came as a surprise, "perhaps as a uplift and I am sure that you business men will voice this sentiment that the man who smarts because the bad has but half done his task, if he is sincere he should also boast the good. With destruction there must be construction, otherwise there can be no progress toward better things.

In the Congo States men are measured by the number of cattle they own, on the Indian by their social qualifications, but in Newark the time has come that men are measured by their services for the people's good. Hannibal, the great Carthaginian general, was taken to the altar by his father and made there to swear vengeance against the Romans and when the great general appeared before the Roman City they knew that it meant their destruction.

It is said that the name of Bruce in Scotland was a synonym for bravery and honesty, as Bruce was never known to run at an abate or do a dishonest thing.

The most conspicuous fault in municipal governments in the United States today, is that they are controlled by the few and not by the people.

The men were all frightened, especially once they didn't know whether the rifle was loaded or not, and a call was sent for the police. The man finally wandered out and disappeared in the darkness, leaving a badly frightened bunch of men working in the plant. As soon as he was gone a rush was made for the rifle, but it was found to be unloaded.

DENISON BOYS

WERE THE ATTRACTION AND PRETTY COLLEGE GIRL IS SENT HOME.

Fractured Rule of the Oxford School By Attending Basketball Game.

Oxford, O., March 12.—Nearly smothered with kisses, in a cloud of fluttering handkerchiefs, and with the cries of good-by from scores of throats of her schoolmates, Miss Forest Ireland, of Lima, O., made a dashing exit from Oxford College for women yesterday. It was one of those enforced departures which often result when boarding school girls become unkindly of the rules of the institution.

Miss Ireland is a tall, handsome young woman, a member of the junior class and a great favorite among the students of the college. A few nights ago the Denison College basketball team came here from Granville, O., to play the Miami University boys. Of course all the college girls wanted to see the game, but President Jane Sherzer's rules stood in the way. With one girl, however, it was different. Miss Helen Louise Aiken, of Bellefontaine, O., happened to have her father for a guest that evening, and it was easy to coax her to take her to the basketball game. Also it was easy for Miss Ireland to go with the Aikens. But it was not so easy for her to cover her absence in the school building, nor to again get into the old college home. She saw the basketball game all right, and the next day she saw her father, P. M. Ireland, a prominent business man of Lima, who was immediately summoned to this village by the college authorities.

Of course Miss Ireland must be made an example of—that was all there was to it. So she was sent home for the remainder of the college year. In company with her father, she left on the 6:40 train in the morning, and her departure caused unusual matutinal activity on the part of the other girls. The ovation attending her going away was unprecedented, and she was followed part way to the railway station, the center of a noisy demonstration. It is probable that Miss Ireland will return to the college next year.

DINNER IN HONOR OF PRESS

Given by Colonel Roosevelt Last Night Aboard the Dal

VERY EAGER FOR NEWS

Is Through Hunting and Will Lay Aside Gun for Good—Busy on Book.

By a staff correspondent of the U. S. Habak, Sudan, March 12.—On board the steamer Dal last night Col. Theo. Roosevelt gave a dinner in honor of the United Press correspondent and the four other correspondents who had come up the Nile on the Abbas to meet him at Renk.

The dinner lasted far into the night, and most of the time was occupied by the colonel in asking questions faster than the combined energy of the correspondents could answer them. After his almost complete divorce of ten months from political and business conditions in America Mr. Roosevelt showed great eagerness in "catching up" in his classes, and by the time he reached Cairo it is a safe prediction that he will again be in thorough touch with affairs in his own country.

The Colonel was particularly interested in learning the details of Dr. Cook's north pole dash and the credited discovery of the pole by his old friend, Commander Peary. When he found the extent of the Cook hoax he expressed pleasure at not obeying his first impulse to send a congratulatory cable to Dr. Cook. He declared the achievement of Peary one of the greatest in exploring triumphs in history. "And it's fine to think that an American was the first to get to the pole." During the dinner which was given while the Dal was tied up at the bank the correspondents tried many runs to draw the Colonel into political discussions, but every attempt found him on his guard.

"While I can't talk to you on political matters," he said, "you fellows can tell me all you know," and with that he fired a broadside of questions at the newspaper men, touching on various phases of politics.

Col. Roosevelt announced that he is through hunting. "I have done all that I set out to do," he declared. "I've not only had a good time but I think the results of the African expedition from a scientific standpoint will meet the expectations of all interested in its success. I have hunted all America and through Africa and I am now content to lay down my gun."

Mr. Roosevelt is hard at work completing the story of his African hunt and will also spend much of the time between now and his arrival at Naples in preparing the lecture he is to give in Paris, Berlin and London.

The Dal left today for Khartoum and will arrive there tomorrow, one day ahead of schedule time and four days ahead of the original schedule. Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel Roosevelt may not reach Khartoum until after the arrival of the Colonel and Kermit, the latest word from them being that they expected to arrive Monday. Four days will be spent in Khartoum, the party leaving Thursday.

While in Khartoum the Roosevelts will be the guests of Sirat Pasha, the inspector general of the Sudan at the police. The entertainment at Khartoum while unofficial in character, will be on a lavish scale and will include several receptions and visits to the most interesting places in the city and the nearby country.

Leaving Khartoum stops will be made at Assuan and Luxor, where the old pyramids will be visited. There was not room aboard the Dal for the correspondents and they are making the return trip to Khartoum on the Abbas. Mr. Roosevelt seemed very anxious to get to the Great Lakes and to the American continent.

"I thought they had gone the limit in doing so," he said, "but I am now well. But I don't know that one is still in good standing."

OUR NEW NATIONAL RULER

The new baseball rules give the umpire unlimited authority this year.—News Item.

Governor Harmon to the legislature of Ohio.

Put Mr. Harmon and the state auditor, Mr. Follin, were up before the house committee on taxation a few nights ago looking at the London tax bill which the Republicans have submitted as a "party measure" and insist on putting through in preference to the senate tax commission bill, which embodies recommendations of the governor's several measures.

So much for the Republican attorney general's latest discovery, and "opinion." If it was intended for political effect, in line with President Taft's instructions that every thing possible must be done to rob Governor Harmon of his credit, it fails miserably in its purpose, for it emphasizes just what Governor Harmon pointed out to the Republican legislature from the beginning of his administration, and it also emphasizes the responsibility of the Republican majority of the legislature in refusing to act promptly on the governor's advice.

BEGINNING TO FEEL EFFECTS OF STRIKE.

Philadelphia, March 12.—It is reported here today that Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nelson, and Commissioner of Labor Neil will make a personal inspection of the conditions here to find means of ending the strike.

The families of the strikers are beginning to feel keenly the effects of the strike. Near prices have advanced from 50 to 100 above normal and the weekly salaries are sadly missed.

President Smith of the Central Labor Union, this afternoon declared that money is scarce among the strikers.

"We have all the money we need to prolong this strike indefinitely," he said, showing a certified check for $100,000 from the strike fund of Pittsburgh. "We have letters from the Central Labor Union of San Francisco, Chicago and St. Louis pledging us $100,000 every week until the end of the strike."

The Franklin National Bank

NEWARK, OHIO

Capital and Surplus $300,000

Probe of Water Works Plant Has Been Completed

Mr. Willis Robbins, president of the Franklin National Bank, was called on the stand and was asked about the depositing of $60,000 of the city's money, and what was done with it. He replied that it was sent to their Cleveland correspondent, the Union National Bank, where it was placed with the other funds and commingled with the other money.

He said money was "easy" in 1906 and the bank was ready to pay the demand certificates. He said he only remembered Mr. Bigbee asking for the money once. He did not remember ever telling Mr. Bigbee to come around the following week, as Mr. Bigbee stated. "We would have no reason to refuse him," Mr. Robbins stated.

Asked how the money was paid, Mr. Robbins said he thought it was in exchange on Columbus and other cities.

Asked about the system of cancelling certificates, he said at that time the daily cash balances were made at noon and certificates cancelled accordingly.

Mr. Robbins was further asked about the bond and officials' amount of money on hand, etc.

F. S. Wright, president of the First National Bank, was next called to the witness stand. He was asked about the deposit of Dec. 21, 1904, of $60,000 made by Mr. Follin. He recalled the occurrence and understood it was the city's money. It was made to the bank either in exchange of checks he did not remember which. This was later increased to $100,000 and later it was required to satisfy a bond. This was in December, 1907. The certificate was taken up in March, 1908.

This was Saturday, March 7, and it was paid in currency and exchange. The certificate would be cancelled March 7, if after the daily balances were taken.

Wm. Wulfoop, City Auditor, was next placed on the stand and asked to identify certain papers and compare them with the city auditors' bond records.

Mr. Wulfoop said the books showed a balance of $301,807.81 on March 4, 1908, but he did not know who balanced the books.

Frank Kennedy, President Kennedy, of the Newark Trust Co., was next put on the stand. He has been connected with the Trust Co. since 1902, and has been president for the past four years.

He was then questioned regarding the deposit of the city money, and said that the bank received the money from E. W. Crayton.

He was then asked about the time the money was deposited, and he said it was in the month of December, 1907.

James McCarthy, City Auditor, was next placed on the stand and asked to identify certain papers and compare them with the city auditors' bond records.

Mr. McCarthy said the books showed a balance of $301,807.81 on March 4, 1908, but he did not know who balanced the books.

NEWARK MAN INJURED AT MT. VERNON

Thrown violently from his machine, a Newark man was injured at Mt. Vernon on Friday night. The man, whose name is not known, was riding on the front end of the locomotive when it was crossing the bridge over the Passaic river. The train was moving at a fast rate and the man was thrown off the front of the engine. He was injured in several places and is now in the Mt. Vernon hospital.

The ambulance of Chappell & Co. was called and the injured man was taken to the hospital. Dr. N. R. Eastman, the Mt. Vernon surgeon, examined the man and found that the right foot was crushed, the right arm broken and the skull was also found to have been fractured. There were numerous scalp wounds and a bad gash was cut in the right leg. He was laid all over his body.

Dr. Eastman found it necessary to amputate the crushed foot at the ankle and this was done. The patient will be kept in the hospital for a few days and then he will be sent home. He is married and lives at 147 Valhalla street.

AMUSEMENTS

S. R. O. SIGN HUNG OUT AT ORPHEUM.

Sam & Murray will surely be gratified when they see the sign of the Orpheum, for the business at the pretty little theatre in the Arcade for the week could not be more successful. After the S. R. O. sign had been hung out, scores were turned away.

The main attraction of the course was the amateurs, five participating in the contest. Miss Valeria Jones, a pretty little miss with a sweet voice, captured the first prize, and Miss Tilo Jennings the second. It was a hard matter to distinguish between these young ladies, as Miss Jennings is certainly to be complimented on being the possessor of such a sweet voice. Russell Martin made his first appearance before a Newark audience, singing a hit in a falsetto voice. He was greatly applauded and with a little more actual experience will surely make good. Richard Brown and the ever reliable "Rastus" in singing and dancing, were also accorded much applause. These amateur nights are very popular, and Manager Penberg is already booking acts for next week.

The week's bill, headed by Willie Hale and brother, will again appear tonight and also at two performances tomorrow, and as it is one of the best that has visited the city this season, it should be seen to be appreciated.

Commencing with the Monday matinee, another good program will be presented, headed by the best of all acrobatic acts, The Webb-Romolo troupe, four in number. White & Sanford, character artists, Wayne Christy, the somewhat different comedian, and one other act that will be announced later.

HOW TO BE HAPPY.

Lee Francis Lybarger will lecture at the High School next Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. on "How to be Happy." The entire proceeds of the lecture go to the building fund of the First Presbyterian church, the lecturer doing the lecture.

Lee Francis Lybarger, lecturing his services. Mrs. Cora Kellenberger, formerly of Newark, says of Mr. Lybarger: "He has a splendid reputation as a speaker. Every one who has heard him speaks so highly of him." Come and show your interest in the new church and in the speaker.
